

The Daily Courant.

Monday, March 22. 1703.

From the Paris Gazette, dated March 24.

Strasburg, March 14.

ON the 7th instant the Marshal de Villars having summon'd the Garrison of Kehl, the Commander Collonel Ensberg demanded that the Fort should be demolish'd, and the Garrison be conducted to Brisac with all the Artillery and Ammunition; but on the 9th finding himself hard press'd, he accepted the Capitulation offer'd by the Marshal de Villars, consisting of 13 Articles, of which this is the Substance, That the Garrison should march out with Arms and Baggage, Drums beating, Colours flying, and Ball in Mouth. That they should be conducted to Philipsburg at their own Expence, marching 3 Leagues a day, and leaving Hostages for the safe return of the Convoy. That on the 10th, at 8 in the Morning, the Garrison should deliver up a Gate, and should march out on the 11th. That they should not take one piece of Cannon with them: That the Papers and Registers of Prince Lewis of Baden, should be carried out: That the Inhabitants of Kehl might continue in it; and as for the Exercise of Religion, it should be establish'd in the same manner it was when the Place was in the hands of the King. On the 10th a Gate was deliver'd up, and the same day a great number of Pioneers began to work on levelling the Lines and filling up the Trenches. On the 11th the Garrison march'd out, to the number of 2400 Men, among them 200 Sick or Wounded. They lost 2 or 300 Men during the Siege. The Marshal de Villars presented the Commander with 2 small Field-Pieces. In the Place was found, 27 Pieces of Canon, of which 16 Brass: 300 Bombs: between 10 and 12000 Weight of Powder: 4000 weight of Leaden Bullets: 3500 Sacks of Meal: and 700 Quintals of Biscuit. The Besiegers had but 90 Men kill'd and 60 wounded during the Siege. The Marshal de Villars has given Orders for repairing the Fortifications and Buildings without Delay. And to Day he separated the Army to put the Troops into Quarters of Refreshment. Part of them is mov'd up towards the Brisgaw, and the rest are canton'd in the Neighbourhood of this City.

Paris, March 24. By a Courier from the Marshal de Villars, who arriv'd on the 22d at Night, we have the following News, The Elector of Bavaria receiving Advice at Scherding, that the Troops commanded by the Count de Schlick, were canton'd on the other side of the River Inn, march'd on the 11th at 5 a Clock in the Morning, and fell upon the Regiments of Schlick and Hanover, which were quarter'd within Musquet Shot of each other, after a vigorous Defence they were broken and put to flight, and pursued, as far as the Country, which is full of Woods and Defiles, would permit. His Electoral Highness march'd immediately to a Village distant 2 Leagues further, where he was inform'd were the Head-Quarters; He was likewise inform'd that the Count de Schlick was at Passau, into which Place he had put all his Infantry, on the Report which was spread that he would be attack'd; but that the Saxons were in the Village with the Artillery. Accordingly he found them drawn up in Battallia 15 or 16 Squadrons in Number, with about 500 Foot to guard the Cannon, which were fir'd on the Elector's Troops at their Approach. The Elector amus'd them with some Skirmishes, while his Forces were drawing into Order, because in several Places they could march but one abreast. Part of his Infantry advancing upon them, attack'd the Saxons so briskly, that they quitted their Cannon. When the Bavarian Horse began to move, the Saxons march'd on the Right with great Precipitation to gain a Defile, which was within half Musquet Shot. They were follow'd so closely for near two Hours that they were entirely defeated. 500 of them were taken Prisoners, among them the Major General of the Saxons, a Collonel, a Lieutenant Collonel, a Major, 2 Captains, and other Officers: The Bavarians took likewise 17 or 18 Standards, 4 Pieces of heavy Canon, 4 Mortars, all the Ammunition, all the necessary Stuff for making a Bridge, and all the Baggage.

Letters from Italy of the 14th advise, That the Duke de Vendome is at San Benedetto, which he has order'd to be fortified, and that some of his Troops have possess'd themselves of the Post of Bagno Martino on this side the Secchia over against Quistello. On the 10th Count Albergotti march'd out of Modena with 1600 Foot and 600 Horse, to surprise the Regiment of Dragoons of Herbevilliers, quarter'd at Mussa and Rivara near San Felice; but not being able to reach thither till 2 Hours after Day light the next Day, the Enemy was advertis'd of his coming, and he found them drawn up in Battalia. However, he order'd them to be attack'd by the Chevalier de Luxembourg, who broke them and put them to flight; several of them were kill'd, and 40 made Prisoners, likewise 60 Horses and almost all their Baggage were taken.

From the Harlem Courant, dated March 27.

Vienna, March 14. Two Days ago a Courier arriv'd with Letters of the 6th from the Imperial Head-Quarters at Greding, which say, that General Stirum having in Person taken a View of the Bavarian Lines near Ditzford, and found them ungarded, sent a Captain thither with 100 Dragoons, to fill up the Trenches of the Lines, that the Squadrons of Horse might pass over; The Captain fell to work accordingly; but the Enemy appearing with 150 Horse and 30 Foot, the Imperialists thinking there were more of them at hand, retreated from the Lines; at the same time the Bavarians seeing all our Cavalry drawn up on a rising Ground, their Horse fled and their Foot were cut off. Upon which the rest of the Enemy came on with 5 Battallions and 7 Squadrons, who were incompass'd by our Horse; then their Cavalry was routed and their Foot overpower'd, so the latter flung down their Arms, and 487 of them yielded themselves Prisoners; The whole Loss of the Bavarians in this Occasion, amounted to 800 Men.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 24.

Heilbron, March 17. The Fight that happen'd on the 11th at Scherdingen between the Imperialists and the Bavarians, is very differently related; yet those Advices seem to be the most creditable which make the Loss on both sides pretty equal. 'Tis said the Bavarians have broken down the Bridges for some Miles about Ratisbon; and that their Elector presses the Circles of Swabia and Franconia to accept speedily of a Neutrality.

Frankfort, March 18. Tho' the Advices from Munich make the Bavarians to have had the Advantage very much over the Imperialists in the late Fight, yet they write from Ratisbon, that the Bavarians fell upon the 2 Regiments of Schlick and Hanover only, and kill'd 4 or 500 of them, with as much Loss on their own side; and that besides the Imperialists lost 4 Pieces of Canon, and 50000 Florins in Money.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 27.

Nuremberg, March 18. Yesterday at Noon, Newmark in the Upper Palatinate, 5 Miles distant from this Place, surrendered to Count Scitum, whereupon the Imperial and Confederate Troops immediately march'd into it, and 'tis reported, most of the Garrison have taken Service under the Imperialists. Yesterday 3 Councillors of the City of Amberg, came to the Imperial Camp, to desire that City and the Lands Belonging to it might not be plunder'd, and offering to put their City into the Hands of the Imperialists; which was accepted. Thus the Imperialists are in a manner become Masters of the Upper Palatinate. The Fight near Scharding, was not so advantageous on the side of the Bavarians as they give out.

Hanover, March 20. The Earl of Winchelsea, Envoy of the Queen of Great Britain, having had Audience of Leave of our Elector and Electress, set out from hence yesterday Morning for Holland. Mr. Crescet is pretty well recover'd of his late Indisposition.

Hague, March 27. On the 21st, his Grace the Duke of Marlborough gave an Entertainment to all the Generals and Head-Officers that are here; next Day he treated all the Foreign Ministers, and after Dinner went accompanied with those Ministers and other Persons of Quality, to see a fine large Turkish Tent, which was made use of when the Treaty of Carlowitz was negotiated, and which My Lord Paget has presented to His Grace. On the 23d. The Hereditary Prince of Hesse-Cassel, with General Tettau arriv'd here from Germany, and immediately made a Visit to His Grace. All the Transport Ships from Harwich are safely arriv'd, and have landed their Recruits and Horses, which are march'd to their respective Garrisons. Yesterday His Grace went from hence to visit the Forces Garrison'd in Bolduc, Breda, &c. and will return hither again next Week.
